“Japanese Decorative Arts and Tea Ceremony in the Modern Era”

Date & time Friday, December 13 10:40-12:10

Lecturers Yoshie Itani, D.Phil., Project Professor, and Sachie Saito, Project Associate Professor

Classroom Lecture Room 6, 2nd floor of Faculty of Fine Arts Main Bldg, Ueno Campus

Tea drinking began as a simple ritual by Murata Juko and Takeno Joo and it was formalised as the Tea Ceremony by Sen no Rikyu in the Azuchi Momoyama era. It has since developed for over the past 450 years as a symbol of Japanese culture and arts. In this class you will learn its long history and the important yet sometimes subtle rules one should respect when participating in a Tea Ceremony.
